Course Description

This course provides an opportunity for students to gain valuable industry experience and apply their knowledge of business practices. The course consists of an academic component, which includes a series of bi-weekly reports designed to state your professional marketing experience and how that experiences relates to your present UCF Marketing curriculum. Also, students complete an End of Semester Report (Portfolio). Instruction will be given for the creation of this report, which will be used to guide and evaluate success. In addition to the academic component, there is an experiential component. Students will obtain a minimum of 300 hours on-site training work experience. Students will be representing UCF in the community, therefore while in the field, all UCF rules and policies will apply in addition to the specific intern policy guidelines.

*There is one mandatory online orientation at the beginning of the semester through WebCourses to complete the necessary paperwork and to receive further information regarding the Bi-Weekly Reports and the Portfolio (End of Semester Report).

This quiz will document that you have started this course and assess your understanding of the rules and requirements of the program.
